ABSTRACT

In one embodiment, a method is provided. The method comprises encountering a function call instruction that calls a called function during program execution; saving a return address in a first stack and in a second stack, the return address containing an instruction to be executed after execution of the called function; executing the called function; and determining if the return address stored in the first stack matches the return address stored in the second stack.